New Hampshire Manufacturing Extension Partnership (NH MEP) and the Job Training Fund: Implementing Lean Principles to Increase Productivity and Compete Globally

CONCORD, NH—March 20, 2013—The Scott Lawson Companies, a leading Worker Health & Safety, Workers' Comp Third Party Administrator and Employee Wellness firm in New England, is pleased to announce the second in what is to become a quarterly seminar series focusing on topics of interest within the greater New Hampshire business community. New Hampshire Manufacturing Extension Partnership (NH MEP) and the Job Training Fund (JTF): Implementing Lean Principles to Increase Productivity and Compete Globally, is a panel discussion featuring the NH MEP and the JTF. Learn how members of your industry can eliminate waste and increase productivity and profitability using the principles of Lean Manufacturing.

Zenagui Brahim will give an overview on NH MEP's services to manufacturers in the state, then Michael Power will have an update on the NH Job Training Fund. We will then hear a few success stories from companies who have benefited from working with the NH MEP and JTF. A panel question and answer period will be followed by questions from the audience.

Moderator:

Zenagui Brahim, President, New Hampshire Manufacturing Extension Partnership

Panelists Include:

Sam Biddle, Vice President of Operations, TradePort USA,
Mike Mastergeorge Vice President & General Manager, Brazonics
Scott Monk Vice President of Operations, Wirebelt Co. of America
Joseph Schultz, Technical Manager, Contitech Thermopol, LLC

Expert Panelist:

Michael Power Community Outreach Administrator, Office of Workforce Opportunity

Join us on Thursday, March 20 at Red River Theater in Concord, NH. Enjoy a light breakfast and networking from 8:15-9:00 am. The panel discussion will begin at 9:00 am. Attendance to this event is free. Contact us at 603.228.3610 or email Bridget at boverson@slgl.com for more information or to register for this event.
